

Radio Buttons Question Type

Radio Button questions allow respondents to select a single choice from a list.

When To Use It

Use Radio Button questions to ask your respondents to choose a single option from a short list. Radio Button questions should always be used when asking yes or no questions.

You can even use images as your answer options or customize the icons themselves.

1. What department are you in?

- Support
- Sales
- Development
- Customer Experience
- IT
- Operations

Getting Started Guide
Radio Buttons only allow one selection per question. If you want to allow for multiple selections, use Checkboxes instead.
Radio Buttons are best when used for short lists of options. If your option list is long, e.g. the 50 states, try the Dropdown Menu instead.
Save some time with the Common Answer Library or our Bulk Editor.

Layout Considerations

If you are incorporating a large number of answer options for your Radio Button question, consider displaying the answers in multiple columns or try a Dropdown Menu for usability. To add columns, edit your question and update the Number of Columns field under the Layout tab.

1. What state do you primarily reside in?

Survey Taking

On a desktop and most laptops the Radio Button question type looks like so.

1. What department are you in?

- Support
- Sales
- Development
- Customer Experience
- IT
- Operations
- Marketing

When optimized for mobile devices the Radio Button question type looks very similar but with larger targets as mobile respondents will be using their finger to select answers.

By default, survey questions show one at a time on mobile devices to prevent the need for scrolling on smaller screens. For single-select questions, like the Radio Button question, the screen will automatically advance after an option is selected. You can turn off this one-at-a-time interaction if you wish.

Reporting

Radio Button questions report as a Pie Chart, by default, with a summary table that includes a count and percent for each answer option.

- + See additional compatible chart types
- + See what other report types are compatible

Exporting

In the CSV/Excel Export, Radio Button questions display as a single column of data.
