

Workflow Versioning

As you create and edit workflows, new versions of the workflow are created each time you click publish.

When it comes to versioning, keep in mind that:

- While editing a currently active workflow, the previous active version will remain operational.
- Once you publish changes, the new published version will be what new respondents see.
- Once a respondent starts a run in a workflow version, they will stay in that older version.
- Respondents on an older workflow version cannot be migrated to the new version.
- The current version number will display at the top of the Workflow Timeline view.
